

Bring blood-sugar health to your wellness catalog

LOGI is an AI nutrition coach for insulin resistance, prediabetes and PCOS — the metabolic-risk employees your fitness partners can't activate.

Scan a meal. See the blood-sugar impact. Know what to swap.

1 Scan

2 Understand

Glycemic decomposition per ingredient plus a modeled 3-hour glucose-response curve. No sensor, no finger-prick.

3 Act

Concrete swaps and mitigation tactics (meal order, fiber, movement) — forgiveness mechanics, not guilt mechanics.

Built for benefit platforms

- Activates the inactive. Our median user is a 40+ woman with insulin resistance or prediabetes — the demographic wellness benefits consistently miss. Two thirds install because of a named metabolic concern, not a fitness goal.
- One deal, whole-EU workforce. 38 languages, Europe-first, top markets Germany, Poland, France, Italy, UK.
- Zero app-store friction. Voucher codes and web redemption — 1-to-12-month access codes, generated in bulk, redeemed in minutes.
- Employers see engagement, never health data. Aggregate redemption and activity statistics per cohort; engagement-reporting API on request. GDPR-first, EU-based.

The privacy line we never cross

Health data lives in the user's account; partners and employers receive only aggregate redemption and engagement counts. LOGI is a wellness product, not a medical device, and never markets to insulin-dosing use cases.
